

Postgraduate Msc Applied Professional Studies

DUNDEE

“I found the tutors to be highly knowledgeable of their subjects and fully supportive throughout the course. It is a course for those who wish to develop themselves a little bit more and is an asset not only for those in training and development, but also those in any department.”

Postgraduate MSc / PGDip / PGCert Applied Professional Studies

What is it about?

The MSc Applied Professional Studies provides a range of new, and innovative, inter-professional programmes that are dedicated to developing and integrating contemporary practice, helping practitioners to engage creatively with the concerns of their profession in a research-informed way.

In addition to the general award a series of Named Awards are available that take into account the professional interests, career paths and aspirations of students. These are offered subject to demand:

- Adult care & protection
- Child care & protection
- Community learning & development
- Community planning
- Equality & social inclusion
- Inter-professional practice
- Leadership & organisational development
- Policing studies
- Practice learning
- Tertiary education

Students can choose to leave the programme with a Certificate, a Diploma or a Master of Science degree (MSc).

Who is it for?

Practitioners from a broad range of professions, both nationally and internationally, including education, health, social services, community learning & development or police.

How is it delivered?

These courses are delivered using flexible distance learning methods with optional workshops when required. This reflects the needs of our students and their employers and makes it attractive to international students.

To apply

The programme has flexible entry and exit requirements to allow you to enter at a level appropriate to your education and experience.

You must hold:

- A relevant degree and/or a relevant professional qualification and/or the ability to demonstrate an ability to study at post graduate level.
- Interview and additional written submission may be required.

Recognition of prior learning is available for up to 50% of the award for which you are applying.
